MARINES FIRING AT CUBAN INSURRECTOS EVERY NIGHT

SANTIAGO, Cuba, June 25.—Captain Guilek, commanding the United States Marines at El Cobre, reports that his whole company is on guard every night and constantly exchanging shots with the insurgents. The marines have entrenched outposts, mounting automatic guns. Last night a bomb was exploded near the American outpost at El Cobre, but it did no damage.

The report that the insurgents have burned the town of Mayari by insurgents believed to be under command of General Ivonet.

The government troops have had an engagement with a column under Estenoz at Calabazas. The rebel loss was 10 killed and many were wounded.

HAVANA, June 25.—The inactivity of the Cuban troops in the night has given rise to a number of reports that the government is still negotiating with the negro leaders. This the government denies, reiterating its intention to continue offensive operations until the complete subjugation of the island. Reports of the whereabouts of Generals Estenoz and Ivonet are conflicting, but government advisers admit that the former probably has 300 men.

President Gomez conferred this afternoon with the judges of the correctional courts with the object of formulating complaints against the editors of three newspapers which continue their defiant attitude toward the government.

Colorado Progressives Meet Soon.

DENVER, June 25.—E. P. Costigan, chairman of the protesting Republican delegation from Colorado that went to the Chicago convention, tonight announced that a conference will be called within a few days of representatives from all parts of the state to effect a permanent organization in Colorado for the third party movement. It is planned that afterwards a state convention of the party to select a full ticket for submission to the people in the August primaries, and for the election of Colorado delegates to the national third party convention to be called by Colonel Roosevelt's organization, will be held.

Mr. Costigan arrived this morning from Chicago. Almost all the members of the protesting delegation have returned. The Progressives have determined to let the regular Republican state organization go its own way and to have their own separate party aligned with the former president.

It is their belief that their organization will achieve victory in the state election, in about the same proportion as the Citizens party success in the recent Denver election.

The conference meeting at which the permanent organization is to be formed will be held probably within the next 10 days. The Progressives intend to seek representatives from every county in the state. The state convention then will be called before the last of July to launch the party into the state primaries and the national movement. The full legislative ticket in Colorado is contemplated.

The protesting delegation will meet and discuss plans before the conference gathering is called.

BUT FEW ATTEND

"No, No!" shouted a score of delegates.

"We have no feelings to pay our board," volunteered a Texas delegate. After a short argument, it was decided to have the committee meet immediately for organization after adjournment tonight.

An attempt to adjourn the convention until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon failed, and at 9:34 o'clock an adjournment was had until noon tomorrow. William J. Bryan had not appeared during the night session.

No Comment on Parker's Plan.

BALTIMORE, June 25.—Mr. Bryan was in conference with Senator Kern tonight, when informed that Judge Parker had expressed the wish that every delegate would vote for the Nebraska plan as head of the resolutions committee. He sent out word that he did not care to make any statement regarding Judge Parker's remarks until he had read the whole speech. That Mr. Bryan would accept if the committee selected him as chairman of the platform committee, was taken for granted by Mr. Bryan's friends.

WOMEN WILL NOT CHANGE

FEDERATION ORGANIZATION

Delegates to Eleventh Biennial Convention at San Francisco Are Very Active

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—The aims and ambitions of 400,000 club women of this country, who are striving for the moral and social uplift and the welfare of women and children especially and of humanity in general, were represented here tonight when Mrs. Philip N. Moore of St. Louis called the eleventh biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to order.

Thousands of delegates and visitors in resplendent gowns attended. After the formal opening remarks by the national president, an invocation was delivered by Dr. Luella Clay Carson. This was followed by addresses of welcome.

President Moore responded for the general federation. The program closed with the singing of "America."

The council of the federation met today to consider proposed revisions of by-laws. A plan of organization providing for "upper and lower" houses in the convention was considered and the council determined against its adoption. It also decided against the change of the directorate from 15 to 50, and the same course was adopted regarding the proposed increase of vice presidents from two to five. These rejections will be reported to the federation.

The first conference of the session was held this afternoon. The press conference, at which the visiting newspaper women and those of the San Francisco press, joined in the discussion. Mrs. McMahon of Utah presided. Several of the speakers wittily criticized the manner in which the "women's pages" in newspapers were conducted and the subjects which were presented as mental food for the readers. There were discussions also as to the proper treatment of news and special features from the woman's point of view.

Three big topics will be the main themes of discussion during the sessions of the general federation.

Interest in Election.

These subjects are: The Owens bill to create a national bureau of health, a measure now before congress; the suffrage question and uniform marriage and divorce laws. The first named has met with strenuous opposition from the medical fraternity generally and especially from the League of Medical Freedom. There is promise of a sharp debate on these topics. Mrs. Sarah Platt Becker of Colorado probably will lead the fight in behalf of woman suffrage.

The board of directors has decided to recommend that the general federation Bulletin, published at Troy, N. Y., under the editorship of Mrs. Harriet Binnowaters be continued as the official paper of the organization.

The contest for president is waxing warm, and the partisans of Mrs. Philip Carpenter of New York and Mrs. Percy V. Pennacker of Texas, are campaigning actively for their respective candidates. Mrs. Carpenter lived in this state during her girlhood.

The friends of Mrs. L. L. Blackburn of Philadelphia, who is second vice president, are pressing her candidacy for first vice president, while the Ohio delegation is backing Mrs. Sneath of that state for the same office. Mrs. Eugene Reilly of North Carolina is a candidate for second vice president or corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Harry L. Keefe of Nebraska, a member of the board would like to be recording secretary.

Mrs. John Theadgill of Omaha, the treasurer, Mrs. John White of North Dakota, the auditor, will probably be re-elected to their respective offices, as no candidates have appeared in opposition.

Mrs. McMahon of Utah, Mrs. Mathewson of Louisiana, Mrs. Brocklebridge of Kentucky and Mrs. Bailey of Massachusetts are all seeking reelection as directors.

Four cities desire to have the next convention—Washington, Philadelphia, Chicago and Manila.

BANKER LEAVES PRISON

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 25.—Oscar P. Cochran of Indianapolis, a member of the banker's colony in the federal prison here, today was released after serving nearly three years of his five-year sentence. He was given his freedom under parole.

Cochran was convicted on charges of embezzling funds of an Indianapolis bank.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs which unfortunately are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hair, however handsome it may be, makes a person look old. We all know the advantages of being young. Aside from the good impression a youthful appearance makes on others, simply knowing that you are "looking fit" gives one courage to undertake and accomplish things. So why suffer the handicap of looking old on account of gray hairs, when a simple remedy will give your hair youthful color and beauty in a few days' time?

Most people know that common garden sage acts as a color restorer, and scalp tonic as well. Our grandmothers used a "Sage Tea" for keeping their hair dark, soft and luxuriant. In Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy we have an ideal preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other valuable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp and thin, weak hair that is split at the ends or constantly coming out. A few applications of this valuable remedy will bring back the color, and in a short time it will remove every trace of dandruff and greatly improve the growth and appearance of the hair.

Get a fifty-cent bottle from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' treatment. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Agents, the Robinson Drug Co.

THE DECAY OF THE CONVENTION SYSTEM

THE introduction of a preferential vote for President in connection with the direct primary system has opened up the question of the status of presidential Electors under the new system. Under the convention system the various state conventions nominate the men who are to act as presidential Electors. These men have always considered themselves bound by the action of the national convention to vote for the nominee of that party. No Elector has disregarded his obligation, although there is nothing in the law restricting the vote of an Elector in any way. In theory, an Elector always has been free to vote for whom he pleases. In practice all Electors have always held themselves bound by the action of the national convention of the party to which they belonged. They have held themselves to be the servants of their respective national party conventions.

The presidential preference primary was first used this year. In such states as Pennsylvania, Illinois, North Dakota, South Dakota, California, Wisconsin, New Jersey and Ohio the voters in the Republican party expressed an overwhelming preference for a candidate not nominated by the Republican national convention. If presidential Electors named on the Republican ticket are elected next fall in states named are they to consider themselves bound by the action of the Chicago convention or by the action of the voters in the preference primaries? Which authority is superior?

It appears clear that presidential Electors of any state would be fully justified in disregarding the instructions of the national convention and in adhering or following the vote in their respective states. Moreover, such action appears to be not only justified but obligatory upon Electors in those states which instructed their delegates in preference primaries for Roosevelt or La Follette. The last Republican convention was made up of a mixture of delegates elected by convention and by direct primary. There is no reason why the delegates elected by direct primary should be bound by the action of delegates sent by the unrepresentative convention system, seated by a discredited national committee or given credentials by a subservient credentials committee.

HISTORY OF ELECTORAL COLLEGE.

If the electors in those states having preference primaries consider themselves as servants of the voters of that state, rather than of the Baltimore or Chicago conventions, it will simply be one more step toward making the President an officer of all the people. Originally the Electoral College was established in order to take the selection of a President and a Vice President out of the hands of the people. At first the Electors were selected by the state legislatures or by popular vote, the latter method soon becoming used exclusively. Ever since the election of Washington, however, the Electors have been pledged to vote for the candidate selected by party authorities. That authority was, at first, a convention of party members in Congress and later, a national convention with delegates elected as at present. Holding the Electors responsible to all the voters by means of a direct primary is the final step in making party nominees for President the direct choice of the rank and file of their respective parties. We are now in a period of transition.

It is the light of these facts that led Samuel Blythe to make the following prediction:

"This convention now in progress in Chicago, marks the passing of Republican national conventions of a similar character. There never will be another Republican national committee that can make a temporary roll and where a prearranged credentials committee can have the last word on the confirmation of that roll. This convention shows that for even if the old-time politicians succeed in nominating Taft, they have done nothing but nominate him. The people have the say as to this election."

National party conventions, as now constituted, have outlived their usefulness.

When another presidential election comes around in 1916 a majority of the states will have adopted preference primaries; perhaps a national primary day, such as that provided for in the Cummins bill now before Congress, will have been established by national law. In any case it is apparent that national conventions have outlived their usefulness. The history of the Chicago convention is the strongest argument for taking this last step toward guaranteeing to the people the right to nominate, as well as elect, whom they please for President of the United States.

SNOBBERY IN AMERICAN COLLEGES

OWEN JOHNSON'S "Stover at Yale" is an excellent story of college life and college problems. It is a striking and significant fact that in this book absolutely no reference is made of the thing for which students are supposed to go to college—their studies. The faculty is not mentioned, it evidently did not enter into the problems of the college student. And the sad thing about it is that Owen Johnson's perspective is correct. The competition of athletics, student publications, social affairs, fraternities, week-end trips and the like has made the influence of the faculty upon a large number of students in a large number of colleges almost negligible. At many institutions in the East, and at a few in the West, students openly avow that they go to college for "the associations" or because "it's the thing to do."

In "The Social Usurpation of Our Colleges," a series of articles now running in Collier's, Owen Johnson considers in detail the various points that he raised in his novel. In this series the author presents the point of view taken by "Brockhurst" in the novel. Johnson was evidently expressing his own ideas through Brockhurst when that character indicted his fellow students in these words:

"You don't know the big men in music. You don't know the pioneers and the leaders even in any art. You don't know the great literatures of the world, and what they represent. You don't know how other races are working out their social destinies. You've never even stopped to examine yourselves, to analyze your own society, to see the difference between a civilization founded on the unit of the individual and a civilization, like the Latin, on the indistinguishable advance of the family. You have no general knowledge, no intellectual interests, you haven't even opinions; and at the end of four years of education you will march up and be handed a degree—Bachelor of Arts. Magnificent! And we Americans have a sense of humor. Do you wonder why I repeat that our colleges are splendidly organized institutions for the prevention of learning?"

And the following appears to be the vision of Johnson, as of Brockhurst:

"I'm not satisfied with Yale as a magnificent factory on democratic business lines. I dream of something else, something 'liberal' in great institutions, not of boys, clean, lovable, and honest, but of men of brains, of courage, of leadership, a great center of thought, to stir the country and bring it back to the understanding of what man creates with his imagination and darts with his will. It's visionary. It will come."

The problem of the colleges is part and parcel of a greater problem—the problem of democracy in the nation. Woodrow Wilson's stand for a greater democracy in the state and nation was foreshadowed by the fight that he made for more democracy at Princeton University.

The prohibition of fraternities and clubs will avail nothing. The proposals to bring all students into a dormitory system founded on the class unit; to bring all students together in a common dining hall; and, above all, to make intellectual attainment a requisite for social success, have all been offered as a means of counterbalancing the tendencies toward the formation of an aristocracy in colleges. The standing of the educational institutions of the United States among those of the world depends upon preserving our colleges as institutions of learning and not as gentlemen's training schools with an athletic flavor.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

THE FUTILITY OF REFORM.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

The Socialist party has no use for the vote-catching reform measures that the old parties appear so anxious for them to accept. Individual socialists can, and doubtless some will vote for some of these reforms for the reason that the initiative, referendum and recall are and always have been socialist principles, the most of which the capitalists have only recently discovered.

The party, however, has gained knowledge through the experience of other reform parties whose goals were directly traceable to their contact with the capitalist parties. The Socialist party stands for all policies of government that advance the welfare of the producing class, at the same time guarding against all danger of the enemies of labor gaining advantage by political trickery. The capitalist parties are ready to do anything for the working class except that which the workers ask for. They get off their backs. If all the demands of the Direct Legislation League were to become laws at once it would not add one loaf of bread or one pound of meat to the workers' tables so long as the enactment into laws of the measures are left to capitalist legislatures and their execution in the hands of the same class.

The economic and political conditions in New Zealand under what is termed state socialism, the state regulates all industries and operates or is directly interested in most business enterprises from railroad building and operating to loaning money to farmers at 5 per cent on 70 years. With all these and other palliatives, and with the government in the hands of organized labor, the workers revolted against the unbearable conditions and went on strike. New Zealand's experience proved beyond a doubt that palliatives are of no value to the producing class. The socialists have the strongest reasons for not flitting with their enemies. Mr. Direct Legislation Advocate, A. K. K. has platformed better measures are the same with which you have been feeding the wage slaves for these many years. I, C. the full dinner hall, high and low tariff, free silver, gold standard, and all the other capitalistic dope you have been hypnotizing the workers with at the ballot box for half a century, so we will just keep on sawing wood like the old way.

Respectfully submitted, with sincere regards none and charity for all, H. C. DARROW.

Colorado Springs, June 25.

PHIL STEWART'S CANDIDACY.

From the Chester-Battle Pilot.

The presentation of the name of Phil Stewart, the showman, for the next governor of Colorado is sure to meet with the approval of many citizens of the state, irrespective of party affiliations, from the fact that he is known to be a progressive man and in him the people will get a square deal and will cut out graft from the political affairs of the state.

From the Montezuma Journal.

Phil Stewart, the showman, candidate for governor yet in sight, talks with a tingling. He says: "We cannot afford to allow the name of brand on a political machine to deter us from taking a square deal. Like many of the implements used by the farmer, they bear different names but are made by the same trust and in the same factory. Fairness is a blind superstition. It has proven a safeguard for the operations of the machine works. It is one of the laws of natural philosophy, that the creator should exercise power over the thing created, and yet we have reversed that law and permitted the machines we have created to control us and we have submitted in meek and shameful manner to this insolent control without protest. It's all over now. If you see a machine, smash it—regardless of the brand on it."

From the North Fork Times.

Quite a few of the Republican papers of the state are publishing a pedigree of Phil Stewart in an effort to boost him for governor. We do not care a whoop who his ancestors were or where he came from. We are satisfied that he is every inch a man and will stand for the people against the political machines of the present day. That is all the pedigree we ask of Phil Stewart or any other man.

Probably you know a man who does petty things "just for meanness." Let me make a prediction about him: he will gradually become bolder, and land in jail.

If I were forced to live with one or the other, I'd prefer Gloomy Gus to Sunny Jim. I'd prefer gloom at least, let me alone, while Jim would always be "joking," and filling the house with merry peals of laughter.

Why is Sir Isaac Newton a great man because he discovered that if you throw a stone in the air, it will fall to the earth? Didn't people know that before?

A million good jobs will be given out—next month. Are you in the way of promotion, or is the boss thinking that maybe he can get along without you?

Why Some People Get Their Way

By RUTH CAMERON.

There is a certain young friend of mine who often remarks apropos of family affairs, "I usually manage to get my own way."

She does. There is no doubt about it. I happen to know her family, and I know that what she says is more than true. Nor is there anything strange about the matter; she has the most disagreeable temper and the most imperious egotism in the family. Why shouldn't she get her way? Just as, of my neighbor's three dogs, the dog with the most quarrelsome temper would always get the pick of the feed, unless my neighbor interfered.

But the queer thing to me about this girl's statement is the evident pride with which she makes it. Can she possibly be proud of being the human prototype of the quarrelsome dog to which all the other dogs defer rather than risk arousing his temper?

And yet I know many people who speak with the same air of pride about getting their own way either in the family circle or in the world at large.

Evidently they do not realize what such deference on the part of others means. They seem to think that their success in getting their own way denotes some commendable characteristic, such as tenacity of purpose or a strong personality. I wonder if the quarrelsome dog thinks the other dogs give in to him because he has such a strong will-power, such tenacity of purpose, such a powerful personality. I wonder if he would be surprised if he were told that he has his own way simply because he is so very "gracious" and so disagreeable when he is crossed.

Did you ever read "The Newcomers"? If you have, perhaps you may remember the passage in which Thackeray exalts the advantages of self-assertion.

"To push on to the crowd," says he, "every male or female struggler must use his or her shoulders. It's better, place than yours presents itself just beyond your neighbor, elbow him and take it. What a man has to do in society is to assert himself. Is there a good place at table? Take it. At treasury or the home office? Ask for it. Do you want to go to a party to which you are not invited? Ask to be asked. Ask A, ask B, ask Mrs. C, ask everybody you know; you will be thought a bore, but you will have your way. What matters if you are considered intrusive, provided that you succeed? By pushing steadily, nine hundred and ninety-nine people in a thousand will yield to you. Only command person and you may be pretty sure that a good neighbor will obey. If your neighbor's foot obstructs you, stamp on it, and do you suppose he won't take it away?"

So advises the gentle satirist, and such undoubtedly are the rules followed by those people who are so sure of always getting what they want, although I doubt if they ever express their code to themselves in quite such plain words.

What the Press Agents Say

NOTES OF "THE BURNS."

Tonight—"The Fortune Hunter."

If certain—Call Main 200 now.

The next matinee—Saturday, 2:30 P. M.

The interest in "The Lily" indicated turn-away houses.

The matinee attendance yesterday, while not exactly, was gratifying.

Practically every seat on the first floor was occupied last evening.

The entire dress circle at "The Burns" for the night performance is scheduled at 50 cents.

Parquet and dress circle seats are reserved for the Friday and Saturday matinees—25 and 50 cents.

Many beautiful bouquets have reached members of the cast, conveying greetings and a prolonged stay.

One week from tomorrow—Thursday—is the glorious Fourth of July. There will be a special matinee at "The Burns."

A pound package of ten was found in one of the seats after the matinee yesterday, and if the owner doesn't call soon, it will be served at the Friday rehearsal.

The ladies of the company are happy, all on account of the fact that each of their dressing rooms is equipped with electric curling irons, and many modern conveniences.

Belasco, the wizard of stagecraft, has picked many a play winner, but none seemed to have proved more heavily than "The Lily" the attraction opening on next Monday night. Seat reservations should be made early.

The fourth performance of "The Fortune Hunter" comes tonight, and all of the little curtain delays incident to the opening night will be absent.

One of the George Cohan musical comedies will be staged at "The Burns" at an early date. Young folks of Colorado Springs who should like to "try out" far places are invited to address Mr. Glass, care the theater.

A special theater train will be run from Pueblo to this city, Wednesday night of next week, to witness a performance of "The Lily." The Pueblo visitors will occupy something like 200 seats in the dress circle.

"HELLO, BILL," IS "PLAY WITH A PUNCH."

The favor with which the packed house greeted the presentation of the rattling farce comedy, "Hello, Bill," at its first production Monday night was duplicated by a second big and highly pleased audience last evening.

In this bill, James Hawley, is seen in a part which is as if written especially for him—the dry, humorous humor which characterized Hawley's best work is present in good measure in "Hello, Bill." Every admirer of Hawley's must not fail to take in the play, as in it he is seen at his best, and it is not to be doubted that before the end of the week he will have added scores of friends to his already large following.

Several musical numbers are introduced into the comedy by two of the members of the company, Miss Gretchen Knorr and Mr. L. C. Shumway. Miss Knorr sings two of her own songs in her own impetuous manner, and Mr. Shumway's light baritone voice is heard to advantage in "With the Last Rose of Summer I'll Return to You." Every member of the Garrick company has a great part in "Hello, Bill." The piece goes off with a snap and a dash, rare in stock productions, the situations follow each other with a rapidity which leaves the audience gasping. There is no long, tedious waits between acts.

"DOTTIE'S NEW DOLL."

AT THE MAJESTIC

Dottie was very proud of her great big, beautiful doll, but even the best of dolls are like plungers in Wall street sometimes—they are in danger of getting broke.

But the queer thing to me about this girl's statement is the evident pride with which she makes it. Can she possibly be proud of being the human prototype of the quarrelsome dog to which all the other dogs defer rather than risk arousing his temper?

And yet I know many people who speak with the same air of pride about getting their own way either in the family circle or in the world at large.

Evidently they do not realize what such deference on the part of others means. They seem to think that their success in getting their own way denotes some commendable characteristic, such as tenacity of purpose or a strong personality. I wonder if the quarrelsome dog thinks the other dogs give in to him because he has such a strong will-power, such tenacity of purpose, such a powerful personality. I wonder if he would be surprised if he were told that he has his own way simply because he is so very "gracious" and so disagreeable when he is crossed.

Did you ever read "The Newcomers"? If you have, perhaps you may remember the passage in which Thackeray exalts the advantages of self-assertion.

"To push on to the crowd," says he, "every male or female struggler must use his or her shoulders. It's better, place than yours presents itself just beyond your neighbor, elbow him and take it. What a man has to do in society is to assert himself. Is there a good place at table? Take it. At treasury or the home office? Ask for it. Do you want to go to a party to which you are not invited? Ask to be asked. Ask A, ask B, ask Mrs. C, ask everybody you know; you will be thought a bore, but you will have your way. What matters if you are considered intrusive, provided that you succeed? By pushing steadily, nine hundred and ninety-nine people in a thousand will yield to you. Only command person and you may be pretty sure that a good neighbor will obey. If your neighbor's foot obstructs you, stamp on it, and do you suppose he won't take it away?"

So advises the gentle satirist, and such undoubtedly are the rules followed by those people who are so sure of always getting what they want, although I doubt if they ever express their code to themselves in quite such plain words.

And yet these masterful folks are proud, instead of ashamed of always getting their own way, and the least of their purposes instead of deception it is.

What a very queer thing human nature is!

NINE DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 26, 1882. JUNE 26, 1902.

It was said to be so warm in Pueblo that the business men were closing their doors during the day and doing business at night.

Prof. and Mrs. Theodore F. Price gave a musical and literary entertainment at the Methodist church.

A. Sagendorf & Co. had recently finished redecorating their drug store and were preparing to put in a plate glass front.

There were a great many grasshoppers in the city and heaps of them were to be found under the electric street lights every night. They were just as bad in Denver and Pueblo, but did not seem to be doing any particular damage.

THE MASKIN LETTER WOMEN'S CLUB WORK II IN DIFFUSION OF KNOWLEDGE

By FRÉDÉRIC J. MASKIN.

When the Women's club movement was first started in the world, its object was "general culture," and this culture was only to be obtained in most cases by copious drafts of literature of various classes. As an organization developed and other departments sprang into existence, the literary feature became a special department and general culture became divided into several subjects. Then the movement for the extension of it, the club movement, began to take on literary work in an active manner. Under these conditions the "general culture" of the earlier clubs, which at first frequently included art, music and literature, was done away with in the larger clubs as they developed regular departments of music and art, leaving the literature section to develop with literary work as a strong branch, except when the latter also became a branch by itself.

The change frequently has been made that the general culture of the average woman's club is so superficial as to be of no practical value, but this complaint has never been sustained and it has met with many denials from club women and also from many educational leaders. At the beginning of the club movement there was of necessity a certain amount of superficial study work done, but the clubs because many women did not fully understand what standards should be required, and also because there was difficulty in securing text books that met with the needs of club work. Now the experimental stage belongs to the past and those who wish to take up studies along any line are sure of finding efficient aid in the programs and study schedules issued by either the general or state federations.

The greatest educators in the country have recognized the possibilities of advancement in education through the medium of the Women's club study movement and are co-operating with the leaders of that work in supplying the club with the best of the best books and text books which will give essential information in a manner to be readily comprehended, even though club women cannot give the time to study that the college or university would require for a course in the same topic.

170 Subjects Studied Last Year.

For instance, a course of study in English history and literature, prepared for club women by a professor of Pennsylvania State college is especially popular with the clubs. Other courses in general and specified literature and history, in botany, ethnology, ornithology and other subjects connected with nature work, in elemental chemistry and in political and social economics are included in the programs provided by the federations for club study. In the past year more than 170 subjects were studied by the different clubs in the country.

The travel class is a popular feature in many clubs and one which furnishes no small amount of information, if properly managed. This class might perhaps more properly be called a geography class, since it embraces a study of different countries. Usually one or two countries are selected for a season's work and the "travel" consists in a careful study of the description and history of that country, aided if possible, by lectures from someone who has visited it. The great advance made in the use of stereoscopic views frequently makes it easy for the clubs to command pictures of the more important towns and features of the country being studied, thus presenting them even more clearly to the mind of the average member than the best-written book. A number of State federations provide lantern slides to accompany different study courses.

Through its literature department, the general federation has held a number of literary contests, which have added materially to the literary material provided by the clubs. Prizes have been given to the writer of the best theses upon subjects suited to the general culture work of the clubs. A wide range of subjects has been covered. The thesis receiving the highest award last year was written by a club woman from Kentucky, whose subject was "The Dramatic Elements of the Old Testament." Maryland furnished the one receiving the second honor, entitled "Origins of Italian Literature." Both of these papers were written by members of the club study classes and are excellent proof of the value of the courses provided. They have been printed in the Federation Bulletin in order that they may be readily accessible to club women everywhere. Many of the newer club women are frowning upon the club study classes on the ground that they detract from the more important work of the clubs. This is found to be generally untrue, however, as many of the women who accomplish the most effective civic work are continually adding to their stock of information by attendance upon the club classes.

"Current Events" Class Important.

Besides the travel class and sometimes in connection with it, the general culture work of the club may include a class of "current events," which is frequently becoming a most important feature. Sometimes this subject is divided into sections, each in charge of a competent chairman or leader, who makes herself responsible for keeping the club in touch with the latest events in politics, legislation, art, science and every other matter of general interest and importance. To the busy woman who has not time to read the papers closely, however, the current events class is invaluable, enabling her to keep in touch with the real progress of the world without wasting time in reading the non-essentials. The feature of club work has called into existence the current events teacher or lecturer who devotes her time entirely to a study of current events from a club woman's standpoint and is well paid for her services. Sometimes such a teacher will cover the work in two or three days to each as the programs of the clubs may make possible. From the current events classes at the women's clubs has evolved the large current events lecture courses. These are popular in every city, even among society women who have no interest in club work but who desire to have a knowledge of current events to help them socially. This is one of the indirect methods by which the women's club has helped to raise the intellectual standard even of women who do not belong to clubs.

Another matter to which the literary influence of the club women of the country is being directed is the elevation of the public press. During the past few months the president of the federation has been called into conference several times by prominent newspaper editors and invited to secure the cooperation of her organization in lessening the demand for the sensational features of the daily news. Since the newspapers aim to give only what the people want, the standard of the press cannot be materially improved until the reading public is educated up to the point of demanding it.

Evils of Comic Supplements.

In this connection will be forwarded the effort to raise the standard of the comic supplement which has already met with such marked approval. The work for the improvement of the comic supplement originated in the League of American Pen Women, a national organization of women writers affiliated with the general federation. The chairman of this work has secured the cooperation of many of the leading club women in New York and other cities and already publishers have submitted to the comic supplement committee specimen pages for criticism and have evidenced a desire to receive suggestion. The fact that many of the comic supplements accompanying the daily papers, especially the Sunday editions, which are presented for the amusement of children suggest disobedience, irreverence, disrespect for the aged and many other evil tendencies, has strongly appealed to the club women in every part of the country so that the matter is to be presented also at this biennial and an active crusade is likely to be inaugurated.

No work undertaken by the club women has been more productive of good results than that of literary extension. The greatest advance in literary extension in the history of the world has been made during the last

RECORD CROPS PROMISED

El Paso county will reap record crops this year, judging from indications, and the farmers state that the heavy snows during the late winter and the abundant rains that fell in March, April and May have resulted in exceedingly fertile and easily tilled ground. From every section of the county reports are that the stands of grain and hay never looked better, and the yield will be larger than ever, on account of the increased acreage planted. In some nearby localities farmers are still sowing.

REPAIRS ARE EXPENSIVE

Water Superintendent McReynolds is making a two days' trip over the entire city reservoir system, planning the disposal of surplus water from No. 4. The repairing of the reservoir probably will not be done this summer owing to lack of money. The actual damage to the dam in the recent leakage will not amount to more than $500, but to insure the safety of the reservoir, repairs totaling between $25,000 and $50,000 must be made, according to McReynolds.

HILARITY AND RECREATION MARK "ASSOCIATION DAY"

Yesterday was the "association day" at the Young Women's Christian association conference at Cascade, and the delegates, who number almost 500, gave their entire afternoon to hilarity and fun. The regular morning Bible and missionary classes and technical conference over, and the luncheon past, all gathered at the auditorium to join in the "stunt" program. Every delegate was expected to respond to the call with an act of entertainment, and right well did the young women come up to expectations. Many were in costume, of various original designs, and each group won much applause from the spectators, many of whom were from this city.

Some of the groups chose the beautiful rather than the comical in their stunts, and the girls from the University of Kansas reproduced a part of the May day pageant as given by that institution last spring. This was one of the best numbers, and the Colorado college girls presented a great deal of amusement with their imitation of a woman driver of a sightseeing tourist car, as seen in this city, with graphic descriptions of the scenery of interest along the imagined route.

In the evening, a vesper service, led by Miss Margaret McKinley, was held to close the day's session, and the young ladies repaired to their various quarters to enjoy real "college life spreads" for which the evening had been set aside.

CONVENTIONS INTERESTING BUT HARD ON BUSINESS

National political conventions are hard on land boys. Mayor Avery received a letter last Friday from Congressman Martin, saying that it is impossible to get a quorum of the public lands committee together for a consideration of the bill which is of so much local interest. The Republicans were gone all last week and the Democrats are absent this week. Congressman Martin says that it has been impossible to get a quorum of the committee for any business in Washington. He says that the bill will be pushed through as soon as possible after the conventions are over.

LADIES' DAY AT ZOO

The bathing pools at the Zoo will be open to ladies exclusively this afternoon, and will be free to all ladies bringing their own bathing suits. Mrs. Coughlin will have direct supervision over the pools. The Zoo management is considering repeating this feature every Wednesday afternoon. The skating rink will be free to ladies every evening except Sunday.

The Palmer Lake Life, to be published weekly at Palmer Lake, has just made its first appearance, with former Colorado Springs residents in charge. Mrs. Harriett Wilson-Nickerson, who was connected with The Weekly Gazette about 10 years ago, is manager, and her two sons, Harry E. Wilson and W. B. Wilson, are editor and business manager, respectively. It is intended to issue the paper the year round.

WOMEN'S CLUB WORK
—IN DIFFUSION OF KNOWLEDGE.
By Frederic J. Haskin.

decade, and to a large extent this can be traced directly to the influence of the women's club. Hundreds of towns now have well patronized public libraries which owe their existence entirely to the women's clubs. Most of the Carnegie libraries owe their existence as much to the club women as to Mr. Carnegie himself, as it is their influence which secured the cooperation of the town authorities. As in the forestry and educational departments, the clubs leave in most instances worked in cooperation with the library commissions, in towns where they existed and endeavored to secure them where they did not. Through their influence hundreds of state county and city library commissions have been established. Where the funds for the supply of books has been greatly inadequate to the demand, the club women have frequently contributed to it.

Traveling libraries in many states originated entirely by the women's clubs. The state federations first sent out traveling libraries, containing an assortment of general literature, to the village improvement clubs of the smaller towns, but as the towns began to secure libraries of their own many of these club libraries consisted of specially selected books suited to the work of the club classes. The women's clubs also contribute largely to the libraries of the public schools and to libraries upon special subjects for the good of the town, not to be found in the ordinary public library. The selection of books for a health library is a matter to which many clubs are now giving attention and the bibliographies upon health and subjects provided by the federations make judicious selections of books upon this subject comparatively easy.

REJUVENATION OF ALL ORGANS WITH TONA VITA

Brought Relief After Other Means to Restore Health Had Failed.

FRIEND'S ADVICE PROVED VALUABLE

"New Tonic Best Medicine Ever Sold," States Well Known City Man.

"The nature of my business necessitates close confinement to a shop," said A. J. Milton, manager of the J. L. Phipps Drug Store, "and as a result, I am often very tired and my health suffers. I have tried many different medicines, but none have given me the relief I need. I have been advised to try Tona Vita, and I have found it to be the best medicine I have ever used. It has given me a new lease on life, and I can now sleep well at night."

"I consider Tona Vita about the best tonic I have ever used, and I am pleased to have this opportunity of recommending it to my friends and anyone who might be in need of a preparation of this sort to add to their system. It gives me rest and sleep better than I have ever had before, and I can now sleep well at night."

Thousands in Colorado Springs are afflicted with the same trouble, more or less aggravated form, say the specialists who are here introducing Tona Vita.

"The strain of modern city life," said one of these specialists, "frequently brings irregularities with regard to sleep and causes a general debility. A miserable condition of the body, which is known to us as nervous debility, and modern plague, whose chief symptoms are: indigestion, bowels trouble, nervousness, depression of spirit, little vitality, headaches, backaches, sluggish mind and poor memory, dull pains in the back, poor circulation, cold feet, susceptibility to colds and coughs, dizzy spells, spots before the eyes, uneasy sleep and poor appetite."

"Tona Vita," continued he, "will remove this condition, affording the right food material for a complete rejuvenation of all organs and their restoration to a healthy, normal condition."

"The Tona Vita" specialists are explaining the nature of their remarkable remedy at the Thompson Drug Company, and are meeting the public from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily.

5,000 MARK PASSED

Colorado Springs already has supplied more than its full quota of signatures for the "Home Rule" petition. The 5,000 mark has been passed, and the city clerk is anxious to have all petitions that are out turned in before tomorrow. He expects to check them up. He is certain that enough signatures have been secured over the state to insure that the bill will go before the voters for initiation.

FIX DATE TODAY

The county commissioners today will set the date for the celebration of the completion of the Union City road. The celebration will have to be put off for a time, because, otherwise the Fourth of July would "take the date off of it." It will be held soon after that date, jointly with Fremont county, at the county line.

REPUBLICANS TO ORGANIZE

A luncheon was held at the Antlers hotel yesterday noon by about 50 local Republicans, who gathered together to listen to reports of the Chicago convention from the local press, a delegate, and other Colorado Springs men who attended. The meeting was featured by a resolution offered by E. W. Giddings and later passed, calling for the appointment of a committee of five to formulate plans and call a mass meeting to form an organization to work in harmony with the regular Republican party, to promote its principles and aid the Republican ticket.

Healthy Mother

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its prenatal work the child finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the raising of her child.

Mother's Friend is not a drug, it is a natural food. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

BABY HAD ECZEMA WHEN 2 WEEKS OLD

Burned and Itched. Had to Keep Hands Covered So Could Not Scratch Face to Pieces. Started with Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In 8 Days Not a Sign of Trouble.

2729 La Salle St., St. Louis, Mo. — "Our baby's trouble began when he was two weeks old. It started with little red pimples on his cheeks and ear lobes and on his forehead. When the pimples were about twenty-four hours old they would fill with clear liquid like water. Baby would not sleep because it would burn and itch. He would scratch in his sleep. Our family doctor said the child had got eczema."

When the baby was two months old, we had to keep his hands covered so that he could not scratch his face to pieces. I was giving up hope that there was any cure for our child.

"One evening my wife saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. When we started with Cuticura Soap and Ointment the sores were one hard crust. We followed the directions and in three days the crusts came off, and in eight days you could not see a sign of any trouble. Now his skin is as soft as velvet and as healthy as can be. We always give him his bath with Cuticura Soap." (Signed) H. W. Bundage, July 7, 1911.

The regular use of Cuticura Soap, against when necessary by Cuticura Ointment, not only preserves, purifies and beautifies the skin, scalp, hair and hands, but tends to prevent clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, inflammation, irritation, redness and roughness, and other unwholesome conditions. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world. Sample of each mailed free with 30¢ book. Address: "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaver Razor.

Naughton Prefers Big Battle at Las Vegas

EAST LAS VEGAS, N. M., June 25.—The Jim Flynn-Jack Johnson contest is the main attraction of the night, and the show of the Naughton's busy little schedule and how that Governor McDonald has officially decided to keep hands off and allow East Las Vegas to have what it wants, with Mayor Padgett keeping a watchful eye on the fight crowd during the early and active scenes of the championship combat, thus being held personally responsible for all that happens, interest in the big battle is so acute that the success of the attraction is assured.

California puts on a pair of championship battles July 1. Most naturally the crowd is keen on its own little bookings, but positive proof that the Naughton-River and Atelli-Murphy matches are minor ones at best in comparison to the heavyweight title contest between Flynn and Johnson was proven when W. W. Naughton, the brilliant publicist expert of Hearst's great string of Californian papers, arrived in East Las Vegas this week. Though located in San Francisco, where his following equals those of Otto Plötz in Denver and Ed Smith in Chicago, Naughton could not stand for his clients' two shows and came on to New Mexico to "cover" the battle between "Lil' Artha" and the fighting Fireman. Naughton's appearance in East Las Vegas proves that that sparkling ring critic is confident that the Flynn-Johnson contest is going to be well worth seeing. Otherwise, he would have remained in California, as the book in pugdom never gets him away from home.

With this city well stocked with local boxing and newspaper experts, the country is learning just what the little college of right folks on the job have from May 9 has known for the past six weeks—that Champion Johnson is working faithfully to be on edge for the battle and that Challenger Flynn is in wonderful physical condition and has absolute confidence in his ability to dethrone "Lil' Artha." The success of the July 4 match is assured, and the knuckers of 30 days ago are now among the warmest of the boosters.

Seeing is believing, says "Original" Johnny, many had it that the Flynn-Johnson contest was a pose one. By the way, have you ever noticed that when the world's champion is out fighting regularly he gets panned? Also when he makes a match he is panned over again, styled a lemon picker and a fortune hunter?

Johnson won the heavyweight crown from Jeffries two years ago. It was most natural that he be called upon to battle for his title some time this year. Following his triumph over Jeff the experts began picking his next antagonist. Most of them nominated "Lil' Artha." Then, when Carl Morris, after polishing up everything he tackled in Oklahoma, hit New York, a lot of the big writers, getting stuck on his talk and his looks, declared that there was the right fighter to be sent against Johnson.

In the course of time, or from May 9 to September 15, 1911, to be exact, Flynn went to war with both Kaufman and Morris. Though the long-shot in the betting in each encounter, he was bracketed both times and in most emphatic fashion, too. He stopped Kaufman in the tenth round, after making the referee every inch of the way, and though not able to topple over Morris, beat the Southerner by so badly that he has never been able to show the advantage since.

To be exact, Flynn didn't defeat Kaufman and Morris, the white boys who were backing in the bright, effervescent days of the spotlight up to the time that both ran afoul of the Puebloan. He annihilated them. Flynn was supposed the tip to go slow in Kansas City, when he had Kaufman as good as stopped in the second round, as those concerned in the life of the Kak's fight game feared that it would be curtains for all times with it if the fireman did not let up.

It was the same against Morris in New York. The bout only went the limit of 10 rounds because Morris, out-weighted Flynn by about 60 pounds and despite the fact that the Puebloan did all the leading and all the landing the Oklahoma's big built was too great to be toppled over. Flynn defeated Morris for all times. Flynn also got the Madison Square Garden "A. C." and Referee Charles White in trouble with the state boxing commission for beating Morris so badly. "White" was severely reprimanded for not stopping the contest before it reached the brutal stage and came within an ace of losing his license.

CLASS OF PLAYERS ON HIGHER PLANE

DETROIT, Mich., June 25.—Leaving aside all considerations as to whether the game of baseball has progressed, and personally, I think it has, there can be no argument over the fact that the class of players is better now than it was in the old days," says Joe Sudden, the veteran catcher, who coached the Detroit team last spring.

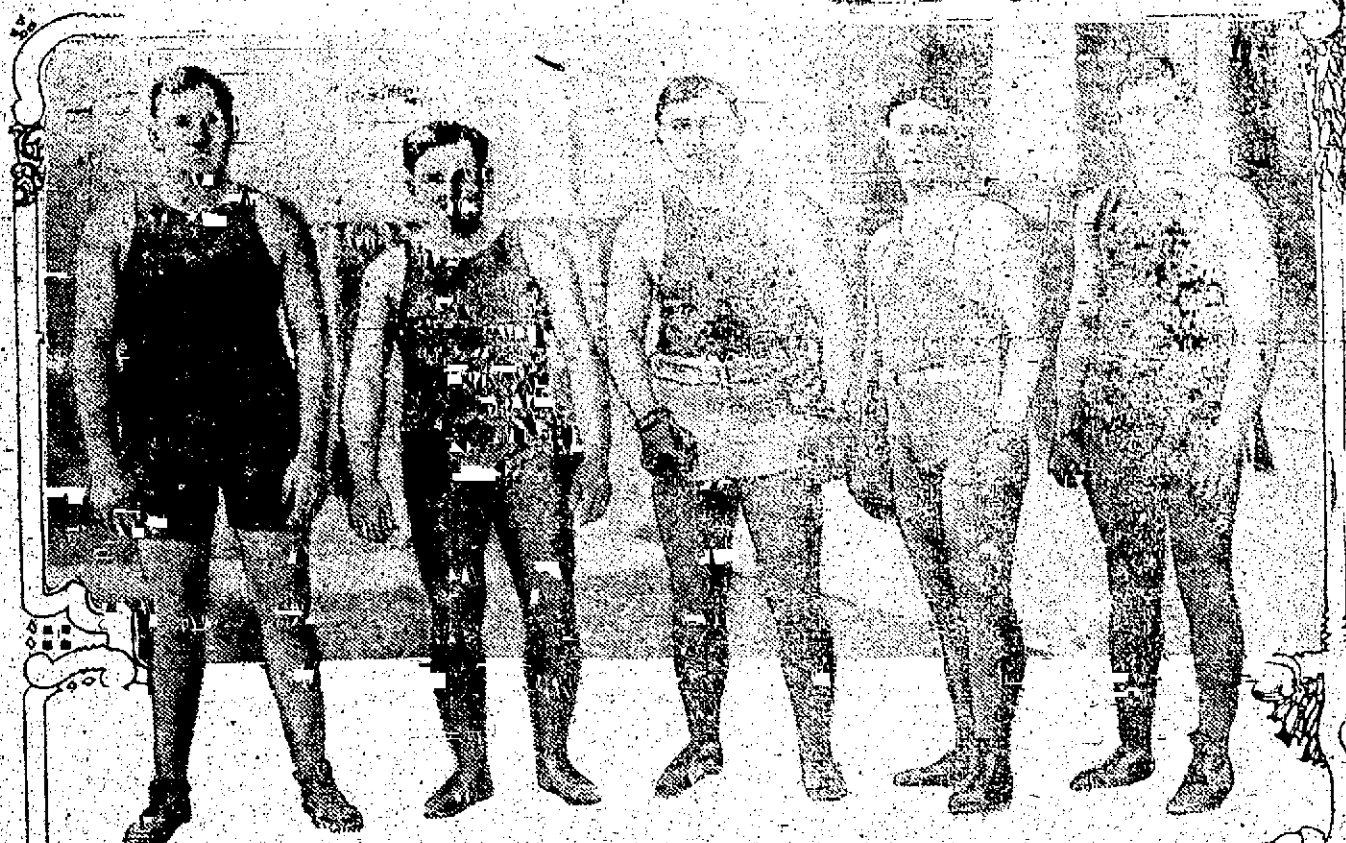

"Of the class of players, for instance, there isn't a neighborhood now a better fighter among the lot. Every one of the men has a fair, if not a good, education, and in appearance they compare favorably with a bunch of collegians. They dress well and tastefully, have excellent manners and are able to converse intelligently on almost any subject.

"A modern big league baseball club is as well behaved a body of men as he is well behaved the best hotel fight you will find anywhere. There used to be a lot of hell-tossers, but now the landlords fight to get them. A man would be insane if he tried to drink steadily under modern conditions. The game is too fast for anyone but an athlete in splendid condition."

"Instead of reporting in the spring saturated with a winter accumulation of alcoholics, as did some of the old-timers, the men of today, or at least most of them, are about ready to get in and play ball when they arrive at the training camps. There are some of the fellows who naturally accumulate fat in the cold months, when they do not get much exercise, but there are very few who put on any fat through the medium of beer."

"No big league scout nowadays will recommend a player who has the reputation of being a steady drinker, even though he doesn't lay them up to excess. There is no room in the league for the school boys, and it doesn't take anyone long to learn that baseball and booze are not good friends."

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR

From the New York Press.

One man hates to get caught in one of those more than he likes to tell a thousand.

Every time a girl goes to a wedding she gets a new idea of the kind of man she's going to marry.

Anyhow, the man is a man is put into class in his life-time didn't get lost in some sure thing investment.

It takes a man to think that about all there is to housekeeping is darned things, stockings, and playing with the baby.

MOULTON EXPLAINS HORINE'S POOR WORK

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 25.—"Dad" Moulton, the veteran Stanford trainer, and the man who really developed George Horine as a high jumper, yesterday had the following remarks to make on the work of Horine in the east:

"One important reason for Horine not showing to better advantage in the east is because he is not in his element. He is undoubtedly the champion jumper from this coast to the eastern atmosphere. This has had a great effect on him and has taken all the pep out of him."

The change is not felt for the first few days and Horine clearly showed this when he did six feet four inches when right off the train, then six feet five inches, and then six feet eight and one-quarter inches. But after that the climate got him and he was not himself. He never had a jump in a Stanford form in the east or middle west more than four days before competition and every man at all times came through and performed as well under those conditions as at home."

"I learned these things," says Moulton, "the climate changes when I was a sprinter and traveled considerably in the east and middle west."

Horine is a man that condition of muscles goes a long way with. For night after night he goes to bed and he is tired and he never touches the bar. He swings his left arm to assist the raise and it does not stick. He is liable to knock off the bar. This is a mighty clever thing to do just at the right time. Mighty few who break world's records continue resting, but I will wager that Horine will make his first eight inches or better in competition. He has already broken the world record twice, a personal best of 6 feet 10 inches. He and a scattered few athletes if other chances are capable of doing."

"I think Horine will be O. K. at Stockholm and should have no trouble in winning at the big Olympiad. If he has his pep there will be no other man in the world who will jump closer than three inches of him and perhaps not that near."
